

IN HER CONVALESCENT CHAIR AT CARLSBAD, BILLIE BURKE WRITES SOME FIRST HAND EXPERIENCES OF PHYSICAL PAIN.

The Actress-Writer Will Soon Be Able to "Globe-Trot" to Other and Gay Portions of the Old World.

HOTEL ALTE WIESE, CARLSBAD, Aug. 6.—Contrary to the teaching of a famous beauty who advocates "mind" for every beauty from a corn on the little toe to jaundice, I believe that the condition of the body has a greater effect upon the mind than mind has upon the body. We cannot separate mind from body, and the action of mind apart from the body we have no direct experience and absolutely no knowledge. Consequently all mental facts are first physical facts.

I have had a good illustration of this in my recent illness. Pain—physical pain—is a purely animal sensation and yet it can blot out every thought of anything but the terror of it and the agonizing effort to ally it in some way. You cannot think when you are in pain. You can only feel.

I know now that one might be overcome with deepest grief while following the person one loves most to his eternal rest, and if one should crush one's fingers in the motor door in the descent from the vehicle at the grave every thought of grief would be swallowed up in the sensation of physical pain.

Some people say that pain sweetens one's character, but I have the same opinion of that idea that I have of the old cry that poverty is a great character builder.

These "axioms" roll glibly off one's tongue if one has never suffered grinding, galling poverty nor agonizing pain.

I know that pain leaves its imprint on the face. There is a little muscle that goes from the side of the mouth to the chin that physical pain draws down until one looks ten years older. This will go away in time if one tries immediately to laugh and be happy after the pain has gone.

Sir Charles Bell says of laughter: "It signifies in all points the accession of vital force. Laughter builds up." This, too, you see, is a physical act, and the mere act of smiling and laughing will help one on to pleasant thoughts.

From what I have written you can see that I do not believe with Whittier that "Hearts" like apples, are dry and sour 'till crushed by pain's relentless power."

"LAUGH AND BE HAPPY AFTER THE PAIN IS GONE."

MOTHERS! Have Your Children Worms?
Are they feverish, restless, nervous, irritable, dizzy or constipated? Do they continually pick their nose or grind their teeth? Have they cramping pains, irregular and ravenous appetite? These are all signs of worms. Worms not only cause your child suffering, but stunt its mind and growth. Give "Kickapoo" Worm Killer" at once. It kills and removes the worms, improves your child's appetite, regulates stomach, liver and bowels. The symptoms disappear and your child is made happy and healthy, as nature intended. All druggists or by mail, 25c.
